

ISCEA launched a Software Implementation Division to Support ISCEA Member Companies Worldwide and announced a Global Implementation Partnership with DataCraft Solutions

Cleveland, Ohio, USA – December 3, 2007. ISCEA announced today that it has created a new division to support the increased number of requests from ISCEA member companies for software selection and implementation assistance.

"It is time for us to have dedicated resources to take care of our member needs with regard to various system needs. With ISCEA as the implementations partner, our member companies will now be able to seamlessly integrate ISCEA teaching with day-to-day operations. We will be with our members throughout the process to assist with defining enterprise architecture, selecting software, project management, employee skill assessment, employee training, and continued fine tuning of the process," stated Dr. Charles A. Watts, Executive Director of Education at ISCEA.

ISCEA is in the process of selecting various software solutions to match various verticals of Supply Chain and confirmed that it has entered in to a Global Implementation Provider Partnership with DataCraft Solutions to Support LEAN initiatives at ISCEA member companies. Through this Global Implementation Provider Partnership, ISCEA Global resources will be available for DataCraft Solutions to implement their software Worldwide.

DataCraft Solutions enables forward-thinking manufacturers to increase the benefits of their Kanban replenishment management systems and further reduce non-value-added activities, on the plant floor and throughout the supply chain. Integrated Digital Kanban brings multi-site supply chains under control, cuts inventory in half, and links data across locations. "DataCraft Solutions fit very well with the LEAN body of knowledge in our Certified Lean Master (CLM) program," stated Mike Loughrin, Director of Lean Six Sigma Programs at ISCEA.

According to Datacraft Solutions' CEO Stephen Parker, "Our manufacturing and distribution clients recognize the same core values that ISCEA addresses every day through their exceptional supply chain education, certification, and recognition programs. We are honored to be working with this exceptional organization and realize that the solutions our technology brings to clients are only possible when awareness and education is in the marketplace."
